DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by USP 5,605,836 (Chen).

Claim 5 is directed to a matrix of agar or gel. The Chen patent discloses the use of agar for culturing (col.2, lines 58-64).

Claims 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by USP 6,767,734 (Liu).

The claims define a plurality of small, circular, plastic or glass covers. Figure 2 shows small, plastic rods (206) which are circular in shape and considered to inherently capable of being used as covers as applicant claims.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-4 are considered to be allowable over the prior art of record.

Chen et al. is considered the closest prior art of record. There is no teaching or suggestion for providing a number of protrusions on the top of a module of the same height as the protrusions on the bottom of the module.

As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicant's reply must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 CFR 1.111(b) and MPEP § 707.07(a).
